Convention And Conference.

On every hand during the time our visitors were among us and since has been heard the expression that Sunday School Conventions should be held annually, as the interchange of ideas is invaluable in Sunday School work.

One of the most lasting benefits from the convention and conference will be in the closer intimacy between the Alberta and Taylor Stakes. The advantages of the Convention will be apparent in the improved methods which will be adopted in the religious education of the Sunday School children, and those of the Conference in the closer union which will be established between our people in this part of the dominion.

Raymond has only words of praise for the contributions of the Alberta Stake to the Convention, and we say in heartiness and sincerity we hope the time may be soon when we can again enjoy so great a treat as our visitors gave us.

The Stake Sunday School Board desires to return its very sincere thanks to the people of Raymond who so hospitably entertained our convention and conference visitors.

Such sweet and generous courtesy gives us to understand something of the scripture "that it is more blessed to give than to receive."

"Stand with anybody that stands right. Stand with him while he is right, and part with him when he goes wrong."
Abraham Lincoln.

A CHRONICLE subscriber from Tabor sent us a dollar bill enclosed in a type written letter but neglected to sign his name. In the same letter he says he is enclosing a P. O. order for he is owing this Co. but there is no enclosure of that kind. If this notice catches his eye and he will forward his name we will send a receipt.

E. S. Martin

It will be with genuine regret that the public will receive the announcement that Raymond is to lose the present manager of the Bank of Montreal, Mr. E. S. Martin who goes to the more important station of Medicine Hat.

Mr. Martin has been a Raymond resident for two years in which time he has grown to be an important factor of our town personnel. He has entered into every move that meant progress or town betterment. He has been prominent in the support of athletics, he has taken a deep interest in agricultural pursuits having purchased a farm here and gone in for beet culture.

His confidence in the excellence of the soil and the future of the district has been abundantly proven by his investments and the statement that his holdings are "not for sale." While among us Mr. Martin has been an ideal citizen and while we cannot always keep with us all of the good people we know we can heartily commend them to new associates and express our regret at their departure.

We hope the selection of Mr. John Q Cannon as the appointee from this district to lecture on irrigation through the Province will be decided upon as the gentleman is amply equipped and and will in every way meet the expectations of the appointors and the public.

Here are some safe homely remedies.

For a sore throat pour a little eucalyptus oil on a piece of flannel, tie around the throat, and keep on as long as possible.

Soft corns should be touched with turpentine every night for a fortnight, and the corn will come entirely out; but don't let the turpentine run on to the adjoining skin, or it will make it sore.

Cramp is generally caused by a disordered liver. For quick relief from the pain, the feet should be plunged in hot water, and then briskly rubbed with a towel. If hot water cannot be quickly got, rub well with a liniment or embrocation.

If in hammering in a nail you hit your finger or thumb, hold the injured member in water as hot as you can bear for a few minutes. This draws out the inflammation, and relieves the pain in a wonderful way.

To treat a sprain bathe in as hot water as can be borne for fifteen or twenty minutes renewing as it cools. Then wring a piece of flannel out of boiling water, bind round the sprained part, cover with a piece of oiled silk, and renew when it gets cool.

Melted Butter will not make good cakes.

A few drops of lemon juice makes cake frosting white.

Remove warts by rubbing several times with onion dipped in salt.

If oatmeal is soaked overnight in water it requires only about one-half the time to cook,

A KNIGHT IN SPAIN

By KEITH GORDON

Copyright, Inc. by Frances Weston

The partition was not very thick, and the girl often heard him whispering or singing in the next room. His voice was low and sweet, and his words were so full of melody that she could not help but listen to him. He was a knight in Spain, and his name was Don Juan. He was a handsome man, with dark hair and eyes, and a smile that could melt the heart of any woman. He was a nobleman, and his family was one of the most powerful in the kingdom. He was a warrior, and his sword was always at his side. He was a lover, and his heart was always in the hands of a beautiful girl. He was a knight in Spain, and his name was Don Juan.

Jail Occupied
 At last our jail has had an occupant. Leaving Jackson one of the visiting thinners from the Blood reservation loaded up with peanuts and apple cider and the combination of producing chemical effects of a character which destroyed his usual urbane equanimity caused him to kick Tai Kee one of our local Mandams with malice prepense to the said Tai Kee hurt and injury, the said on said Tai Kee's pants indicating that the kicks were of the virture vigorous and added to the circumstantial evidence of said Tai Kee being unable to sit comfortably in any position whatsoever, now therefore it was adjudged that said Leaping Jackson be and is now confined for his ungentlemanly not to say harsh conduct upon the every day days of said Tai Kee and therefore the said Leaping Jackson is in the throes of confinement.

It means an awful head bill for the town but the dignity of the municipality must be maintained at any cost and it is hoped this lesson may have a salutary effect on other, heterogonous, inclined bloods who may acquire similar chemical effects.

Circus in Lethbridge
 June 22nd.

With the summer solstice approaching the large and flaming poster containing cuts of impossible animals described in high sounding allusive terms. There also to be seen the bespangled rider and skittily skinned apes upon a tip maintaining a graceful equilibrium on the back of a and red tailed strided stein vainly endeavoring to rid himself of his fair and sharp tailed burden. Presently the lion headed "orke" will be heard at the head of the cavalcade and the expectantly eager people having stood for hours in the sun will gaze vacantly at the tightly closed vans which make up the procession. Then will the key-note be reached, the business in Lethbridge to get the best peering or leering how deep the gas will may be, or ascertain how it feels to that much nearer the North Pole or in fact any thing except to see the circus! The business being pressing which takes him there and being there, they may as well stay and see the circus. The Norris and Rose aggregation of world's wonders will dazzle and delight multitudes in Lethbridge June 22nd.

The Country Side.

The rain which has fallen almost daily during the past month has made the crops to spring excellent. In sunward and has converted the prairie into a vast sea of peckoning billows. Stockmen say it has been years since the spring grass has been so luxuriant as it is now and unless all-day fall, this year's harvest should be such a one as will live for years in crop annals. Anyone who will look at our fields of grain with their promise of enormous yield can say but one thing of the country, that its productivity is a marvel. Range stock is rapidly coming into perfect condition and only an occasional carcass like a scar on the cheek of a beauty, obtrudes itself to remind us of the winter the awful winter that was.

Bests are as all absorbing topic to some of our readers. It is true and every available hand to be had is pressed into immediate service even to the following of the small boy to his hiding place under the bed whence he is dragged forth and made to study his spelling book.

Benefit of Proper Breathing.

The habit of slow, nasal, deep breathing that covers the entire lung surface is of more value and importance than you will ever believe until you have tried it, and when you have established the habit of breathing in this manner you will say some remarkable things in its favor. It will reach all points of your physical system. All the benefits that occur from a healthy condition of the blood will in a greater or less degree be yours, for the manner and completeness with which the inspired air comes in contact with the blood in the lungs are of the utmost importance to every vital process—Christian Work and Evangelist.

Young Hunter's Hard Luck.

"Some years ago," said a hunter, "when I lived down on the eastern shore of Maryland, where I was born, I had made a whole day's gunning rabbit and had not killed one. On my way home through low woods I met a boy who had a live rabbit. Ashamed to go home empty handed, I gave the boy 25 cents for his rabbit."

"I then said to myself, 'I will let Mr. Rabbit to a bush and kill him, and the folks at home will say I'd shot a rabbit.' I took a shooting and fastened the rabbit to a bush and then stood off, took aim and fired. When the gun had stopped kicking I saw Mr. Rabbit spring through the woods. My friend told me the shooter had no train and had set the little animal free."

Benefit of Proper Breathing.

The habit of slow, nasal, deep breathing that covers the entire lung surface is of more value and importance than you will ever believe until you have tried it, and when you have established the habit of breathing in this manner you will say some remarkable things in its favor. It will reach all points of your physical system. All the benefits that occur from a healthy condition of the blood will in a greater or less degree be yours, for the manner and completeness with which the inspired air comes in contact with the blood in the lungs are of the utmost importance to every vital process—Christian Work and Evangelist.

"A SCHOOL FOR SPIDERS."
 The insects taught to weave their webs only on bottles.
 "This is my spiders' school," said the young woman, and with a little stick she brushed a few webs from the wall. "Not much to look at, is it? Only a dozen rows of wine bottles, a great many spiders and a great many webs. I make nevertheless a little money out of the school."
 "Spiders' webs are in demand among surgeons and among the makers of certain astronomical instruments, the surgeons using them to stop hemorrhages with and the instrument makers using them in certain very delicate instruments—instruments wherein, strange to say, a human hair is neither too much nor durable enough to serve the required purpose."
 "Besides selling the webs I also sell the spiders. A corrupt class of wine dealers buy the spiders. These men put them among bottles of new wine. I train the spiders to weave on bottles only—I tear down webs worn anywhere else—and it is amazing how quickly these well schooled pupils of mine will cover a case of port or claret with cobwebs, giving to the wine an appearance of great age."
 "Six spiders in a week will add two years to the aspect of a dozen bottles of wine; hence you will readily see how valuable the ugly little creatures are to wine merchants of a certain type."

SEWING COTTON.
 The Humble Origin of the Great Thread Industry.
 The origin of sewing cotton was told at a cotton manufacturers' meeting by the lord of the great thread houses of Paisley, Scotland. It was discovered in 1863 by his grandfather, who had a little business in Paisley, making silk twine for bottles, which were used by every weaver. The silk came from Hamburg, and in 1808 Napoleon caused the stock held there to be burned in order to hamper British trade. The weavers were in despair, but James Clark conceived the idea that cotton yarn could be twisted together to form the twines.
 The experiment succeeded, and from this grew the idea that cotton could be substituted for silk in the manufacture of sewing thread and would be no coarse and harsh. He began the manufacture of the thread in a very small way. It was at first put up in skeins and had to be wound into little balls by the purchaser, and then Mr. Clark invented the modern spool. He had then made a wood turner, half a gross at a time. They cost him sixpence a dozen, and he charged the purchaser of the thread a halfpenny for the spool, which, however, was refunded when the spool was returned. The ladies of Paisley used to come to his shop with their spools and wait while he wound the thread on them. From this small beginning grew a great industry.

Young Hunter's Hard Luck.

"Some years ago," said a hunter, "when I lived down on the eastern shore of Maryland, where I was born, I had made a whole day's gunning rabbit and had not killed one. On my way home through low woods I met a boy who had a live rabbit. Ashamed to go home empty handed, I gave the boy 25 cents for his rabbit."

"I then said to myself, 'I will let Mr. Rabbit to a bush and kill him, and the folks at home will say I'd shot a rabbit.' I took a shooting and fastened the rabbit to a bush and then stood off, took aim and fired. When the gun had stopped kicking I saw Mr. Rabbit spring through the woods. My friend told me the shooter had no train and had set the little animal free."
